NEOPRENE FEATURES

GLUED BLIND STITCHED

Stitching method whereby the panels are first glued together and then only stitched halfway through the fabric instead of fully perforating it, which makes the seams waterproof.

M-STITCH

M-stitch is a very strong and durable stitching. It connects two neoprene panels by stitching all the way through the material this ensures a very strong connection. Due to the stitching pattern the seam will keep its elasticity.

FLATLOCK STITCHED

The neoprene panels are constructed with a slight overlap, and use a wide, strong stitching to create a very strong connection. Compared to a GBS construction, flatlock stitching allows more water penetration through the seams.

GLIDESKIN NECK CONSTRUCTION

The reduced thickness of the neck construction makes it easier for the neoprene to follow the curves of the neck with less pressure. The neoprene feels like a second skin, while the glideskin inner lining enables an excellent water closure.

OVERHEAD BACKUP SHIELD

A neoprene back panel with collar, prevents water from entering through the zipper and neck.

LINING SAVER

Soft Velcro piece attachment on the inside of the wetsuit to fix your collar tag. This will prevent damaging the inner lining.

WATERPROOF STRETCH FLAREMESH TAPING 100%

Flaremesh lining has a carbon backing and is topped with big terry loops creating a high pile for extra insulation and a soft touch. This high durable taping is used inside the suit to avoid leaking and to keep it flexible and warm.

WATERPROOF STRETCH TAPING 100%

A high durable taping used inside the suit to avoid leaking and keep it flexible and warm.

WATERPROOF STRETCH POSITION TAPING 50%

A neoprene taping is positioned on the critical seams of the suit. This prevents water from coming through the seams on critical points of the human body.

KEYPOCKET 2.0

The standard Keyloop is now equipped with a mini-buckle to release your key with ease.

NON SLIP CUFFS

The cuff is designed to limit the water entry and keep the sleeve in place.

SHIN PROTECTION

An EVA padding to protect your shins from board impacts.

JUNCTION TAPING INSIDE

Extra taping on seam junctions to prolong the durability of your wetsuit.

AQUABARRIER

Silicone printing which forms a barrier, preventing water from entering the suit.

(DOUBLE) FRONT-ZIP

With a zipper on the chest, the suit opens from the top. The overlapping panels allow for an easy entry, without compromising on waterclosure. Compared to a back-zip, front-zip suits have more stretch in the back panel.

HEX-TECH KNEEPADS

The kneepads are made of a 4way Super-tex fabric. This is a durable fabric especially designed for protection.

AQUAFLUSH

Perforated neoprene that allows water to exit the suit, preventing the leg cuffs from filling up with water.

VELCRO ANKLE STRAP

Velcro ankle straps to tighten the leg cuffs.

BACK-ZIP

The back-zip is the classic wetsuit closure, due to the wide zipper opening on the back the entry is very easy. Depending on the model the zipper is often double lined to prevent water entry through the zipper.

FINE MYSTIC ZIP

This is the finest and smallest frontzipper used for a smooth and waterresistant closure. Easy to handle while maintaining the flexible capabilities of the suit. The strong metal puller with the rubber fingertip enables an easy handling.

YKK ZIP

Premium quality stainless steel zipper.
